

THE HONEST LIST

I Haven't Automated Everything at Verydian

Here's exactly where I still draw the line, and why it hasn't moved to zero.

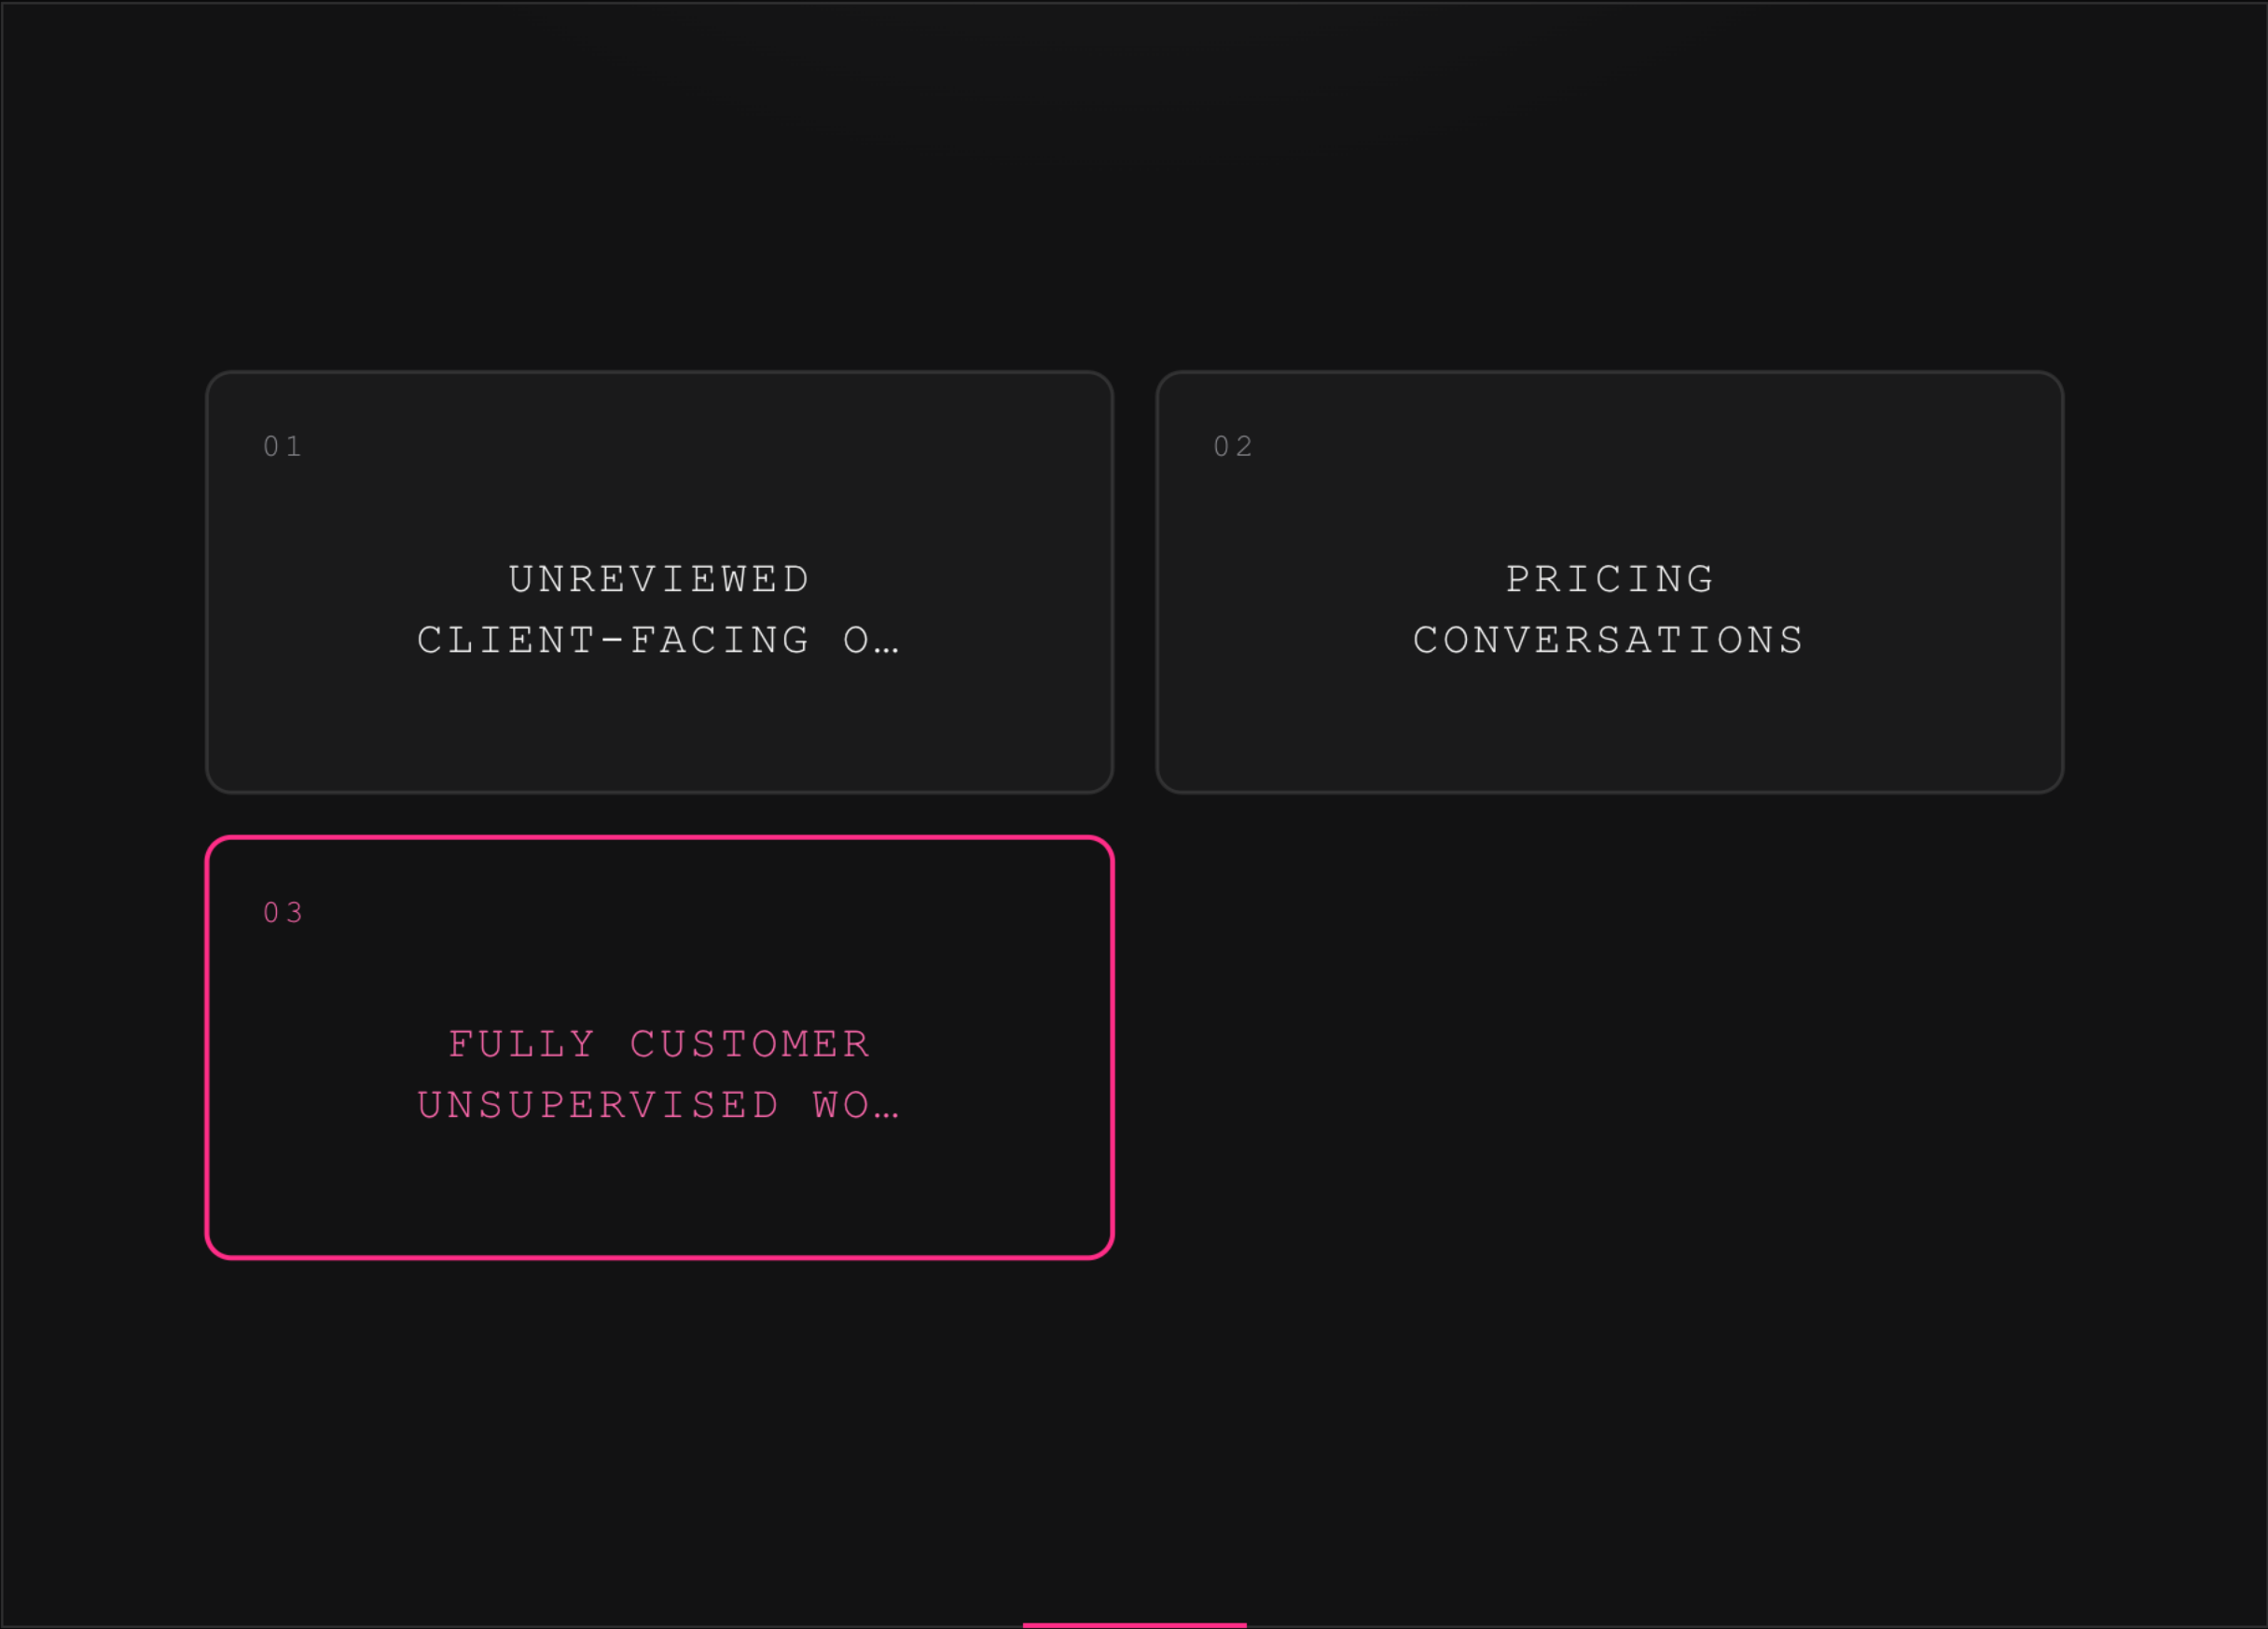

ENTER

● EXHIBIT 02 · VERYDIAN OPS

Most of the Week Runs Without Me

Research, drafting, rendering, scheduling, a good chunk of client ops. All agent-run end to end.

● EXHIBIT 03 · THE EXCEPTIONS

Three Things That Stay Mine

Anything that goes out under my name unreviewed. Pricing conversations with a client.
Anything customer-facing running fully unsupervised.

● EXHIBIT 04 · WHY IT STAYS MINE

Why Those Three Don't Move to an Agent

Customer-facing risk needs a human catching it before it ships. A relationship decision isn't a task to hand off.

```
$  RULE: CUSTOMER_FACING + UNSUPERVISED
    = BLOCK

$  REVIEW: REQUIRED BEFORE SEND

$  PRICING: HUMAN ONLY

>  LINE: MOVES, NOT TO ZERO
```

● EXHIBIT 05 · THE STANDING RULE

The Actual Rule I Run By

If it's customer-facing and unsupervised, it doesn't ship. That line moves as the agents improve, not to zero.

The Line Is Shorter Than You'd Think

But it's not empty, and it shouldn't be yet.

FOLLOW THE BUILD