

THE INCIDENT

An agent handed me
a number that didn't exist

I almost sent it straight to a client.

ENTRY 02 · THE MOMENT

What the output actually looked like

It read clean. Right format, right tone, one number quietly wrong by twenty-two points, sitting inside a client report ready to send.

ENTRY 03 · THE FIX

What I added after that afternoon

A source citation check on every number. A cross-reference against the original data. A confidence threshold. A human review gate before anything client-facing ships.

ENTRY 04 · THE GUARDRAIL

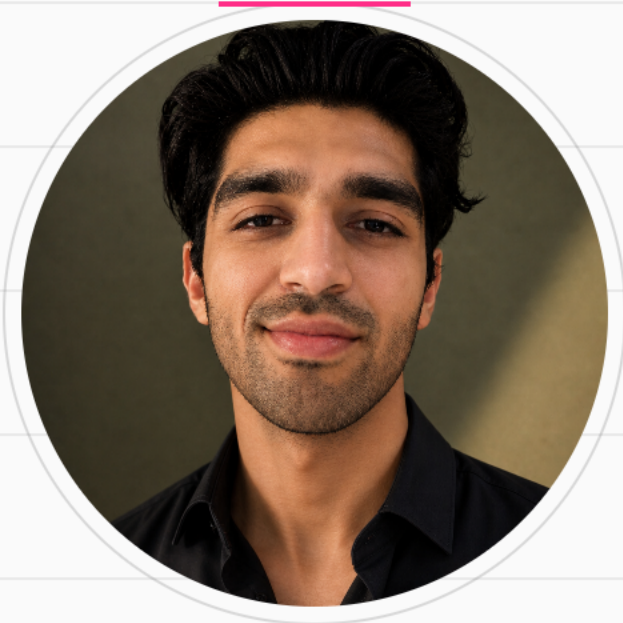

Every number now passes through this

Nothing reaches a client deliverable without clearing all four steps, and the whole thing runs in under a second.
